Lions are the most social of the big cats. They live in prides of up to 30 individuals, and they work together to hunt and defend their territory. Lions are also known for their distinctive mane, which is a symbol of their strength and power.

Tigers are the largest of the big cats. They are solitary animals, and they only come together to mate. Tigers are also known for their beautiful fur, which is orange with black stripes. Tigers are found in a variety of habitats, including forests, grasslands, and swamps.

Cheetahs are the fastest of the big cats. They can reach speeds of up to 70 miles per hour, which makes them the fastest land animal in the world. Cheetahs are also known for their spotted fur, which helps them to camouflage themselves in the African savanna.

Lions, Tigers, and Cheetahs Illustrated Monthly is the ultimate guide to these three magnificent big cats. With stunning photography and engaging text, this magazine will teach you everything you need to know about these apex predators.
