The priest, Father Michael Cleary, was a respected member of the community. He was known for his kindness and compassion, and he was beloved by his parishioners. The nun, Sister Mary Margaret Kreuper, was equally respected. She was a dedicated teacher and a tireless volunteer.

But behind their public facades, Cleary and Kreuper were living a lie. They had been secretly meeting for years, and they had fallen deeply in love. In 1968, Kreuper gave birth to their son, Paul.

The birth of Paul was a closely guarded secret. Cleary and Kreuper knew that if their affair was discovered, they would be excommunicated from the Church. So they kept their son hidden from the world.

For years, Cleary and Kreuper lived a double life. They continued to serve their community as priest and nun, but they also secretly raised their son. Paul grew up knowing that his parents were different, but he never knew the full truth about their relationship.

In 1988, the truth finally came out. A former parishioner of Cleary's recognized Paul and realized that he was the spitting image of the priest. The parishioner reported his suspicions to the Church, and an investigation was launched.

The investigation quickly confirmed that Cleary and Kreuper had been having an affair and that Paul was their son. Cleary and Kreuper were immediately excommunicated from the Church, and they were forced to give up their son.

Paul was devastated by the news. He had always known that his parents were different, but he never imagined that they had been living a lie. He felt betrayed and abandoned, and he struggled to come to terms with his new reality.

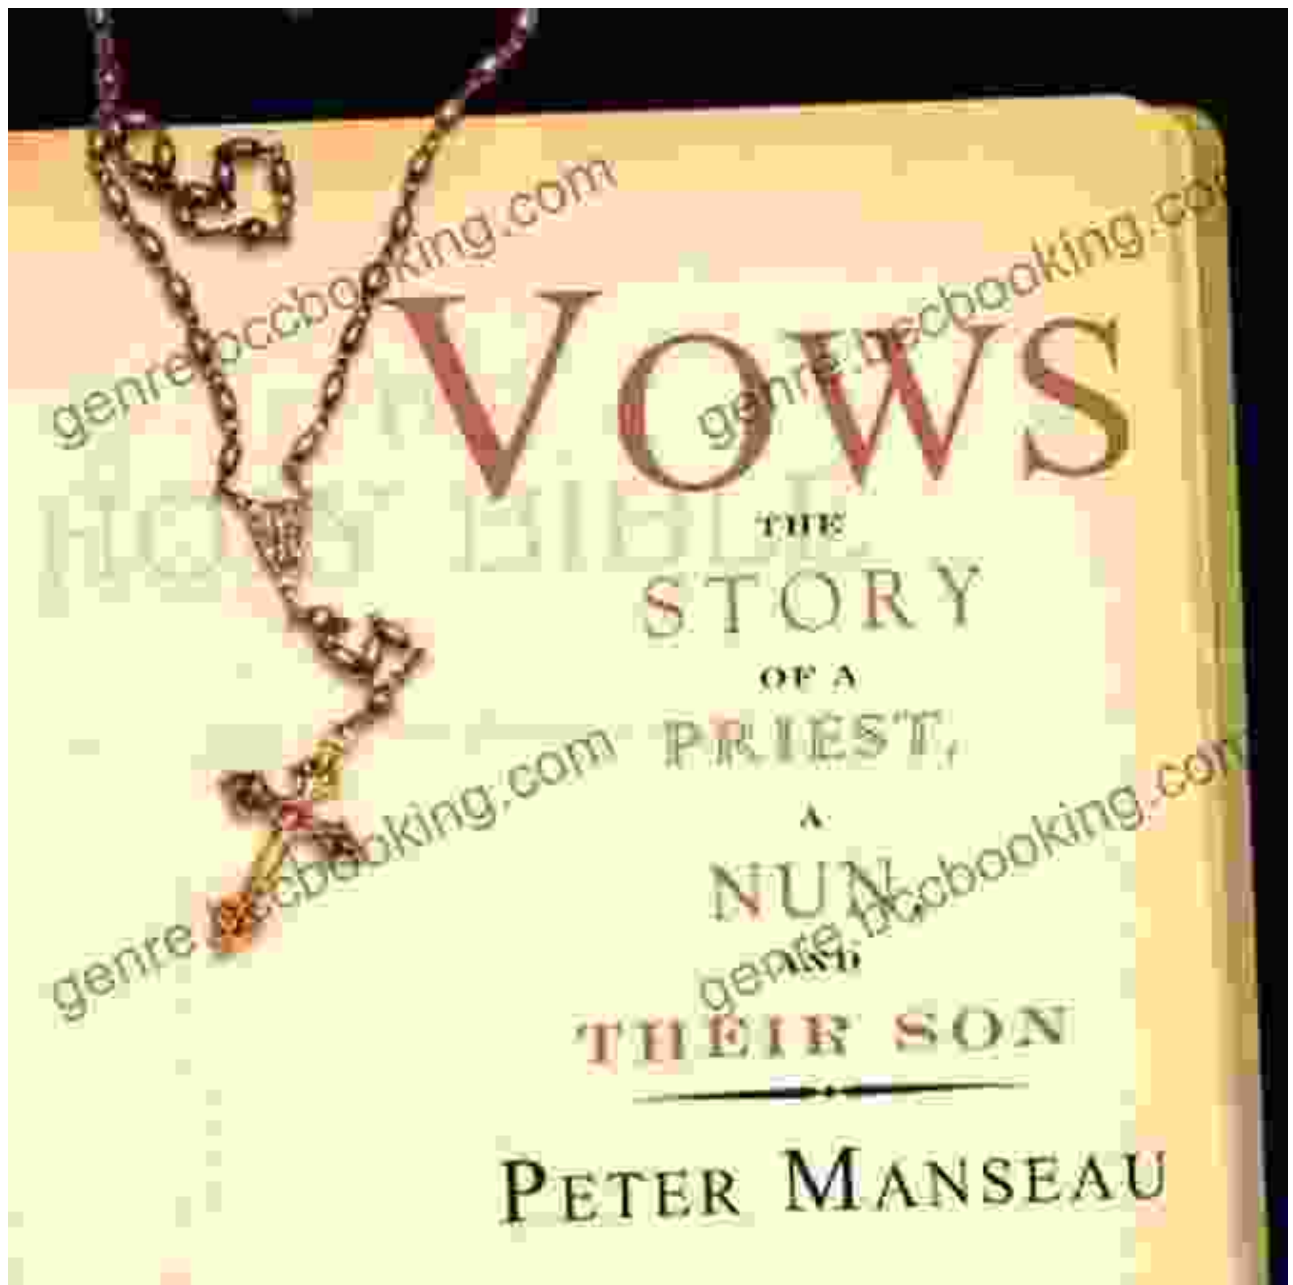

In the years since the scandal, Paul has spoken out about his experience. He has written a book about his life, and he has become an advocate for others who have been affected by clergy sexual abuse.

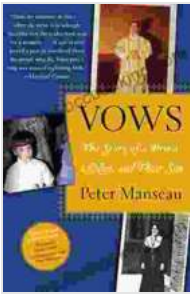

The Story of Priest Nun and Their Son is a gripping and shocking true story that will leave you questioning everything you thought you knew about the Catholic Church. It is a story of love, betrayal, and redemption, and it is a testament to the power of the human spirit.
